Since moderately aggressive portfolios have a higher level of risk than conservative portfolios, this strategy is best for longer time horizons and a medium level tolerance for investment risk.

Strategy

The strategy for the Moderately Aggressive Portfolio is to invest in a combination of active and passive investments in the following proportions: --- 7% in the Vanguard® Federal Money Market Fund - Investor Shares which seeks to provide current income while maintaining liquidity and a stable share price of $1.

--- 25% in the Dodge & Cox Income Fund - Class X which seeks a high and stable rate of current income, consistent with long-term preservation of capital; a secondary objective is capital appreciation.

--- 3% in the DFA Inflation-Protected Securities Portfolio - Institutional Class, which seeks to provide inflation protection and earn current income consistent with inflation-protected securities.

--- 5% in the American Beacon SiM High Yield Opportunities Fund - R5 Class, which seeks high current income and, secondarily, capital appreciation.

---22% in the Vanguard® Institutional Index Fund - Institutional Shares, which seeks to track the performance of the S&P 500 Index that measures the investment return of large-capitalization stocks.

--- 10% in the Vanguard® Mid-Cap Index Fund - Institutional Shares which seeks to track the performance of the CRSP US Mid Cap Index that measures the investment return of mid-capitalization stocks.

--- 8% in the Vanguard® Small-Cap Index Fund - Institutional Shares which seeks to track the performance of the CRSP US Small Cap Index that measures the investment return of small-capitalization stocks..

--- 10% in The Hartford International Value Fund - Class R6 which seeks long-term total return.

--- 10% in the Vanguard® International Growth Fund - Admiral™ Shares, which seeks to provide long-term capital appreciation.

Each sub-fund description contains more detailed information regarding the sub-funds' Investment Advisers, Portfolio Managers, Investment Objectives, Strategies and Principal Risks, and must accompany this Lifestyle Portfolio description.

Principal Risks

All equity (both U.S. and International) and fixed income investments exhibit certain risk characteristics that include the potential for loss of principal value. Generally, the probability of loss of principal is greater with investment funds that also provide the greatest potential for investment return. International stocks carry additional risks that relate to currency and political uncertainty. The risks of Lifestyle Portfolios are based on the proportionate risk characteristics of the underlying sub-funds noted above.

Management fees include investment advisory fee expenses of 0.30% for each class of the Fund, and administrative services fee expenses of 0.05% for the Fund's Class X shares. Dodge & Cox has contractually agreed, through April 30, 2029, to waive management fees or reimburse the Fund for ordinary expenses to the extent necessary to maintain the net ordinary expense ratio of the Fund's Class X shares at an amount 0.08% less than the net ordinary expense ratio of the Fund's Class I shares. This agreement cannot be terminated prior to April 30, 2029 other than by resolution of the Fund's Board of Trustees. For purposes of the foregoing, ordinary expenses shall not include nonrecurring shareholder account fees, fees and expenses associated with Fund shareholder meetings, fees on portfolio transactions such as exchange fees, dividends and interest on short positions, fees and expenses of pooled investment vehicles that are held by the Fund, interest expenses and other fees and expenses related to any borrowings, taxes, brokerage fees and commissions and other costs and expenses relating to the acquisition and disposition of Fund investments, other expenditures which are capitalized in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and other non-routine or extraordinary expenses not incurred in the ordinary course of the Fund's business, such as litigation expenses. The term of the agreement will automatically renew for subsequent three-year terms unless terminated with at least 30 days' written notice by either party prior to the end of the then-current term. The agreement does not permit Dodge & Cox to recoup any fees waived or payments made to the Fund for a prior year.
